HMP Thameside in London

HMP Thameside

- Opened in 2012 as London's first privately operated prison.
- Local Security Category B prison in Greenwich, South East London.
- Operational Capacity of 1232 young adult & adult males 18+
- 350 new receptions per month.
- Releases around 150 sentenced prisoners a month (60% of which served less than 12 weeks).

A New Prison

- When HMP Thameside opened it was populated rapidly with a mix of inner London prisoners from other prisons and newly sentenced people including a high proportion of gang members.
- Prison Officers were newly trained, processes still being established and the regime and security protocols were still being formed and embedded.
- Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Prisons visited in January 2013 finding high levels of violent assaults, 1600 in Year 1, of which 38% were found to be gang related.
- Catch22 were asked to design and introduce a service within HMP Thameside to address these issues working alongside our Offender Management and Resettlement Teams.
- Since the service was introduced in HMP Thameside 2013 Peer on peer violence rate per 1000 committed by gang involved prisoners reduced by 50%. This was been achieved through providing focused Gangs Worker support, conflict resolution and mediation sessions between gang associated individuals.
